KIWANIANS FROM OVER THE STATE ARE TWIN CITY GUESTS

ARMED TRIO RAIDS PRISON FARM AND LIBERATES SIX MEN

Picket Guard Is Slain When The Invaders Shoot On Sight

POSSES HUNT FOR ESCAPES

Freed Convicts Told To Step From Out From Ranks

(Associated Press)
HOUSTON, Texas, July 22—Three men drove up to the Ferguson state convict farm, near Midway, 70 miles north of Houston, shortly after midnight, shot and killed Will Raider, of Midway the picket guard, liberated six convicts of the 148 in the prison barracks, and sped away with them after first locking the doors on the remainder of the prisoners.

Posses today were scouring the country for the escaped men.

Execution of the plot was daring and ruthless. The moment the men in the automobile sighted the guard, they opened fire on him. Raider, riddled with bullets, fell dead. Instantly they were upon him and seized the keys to the barracks.

With drawn pistols they opened the doors and called the names of six long-time men to step out from the ranks of their fellows and take their places behind their liberators. The other convicts, apparently dazed by the swiftness of the affair made no move.

With no apparent aid, the three men satisfied themselves the men they had come for were accounted for, locked the door on the remainder of the convicts, who a moment later heard the automobile rush away in the darkness.

The story, as it was telephoned to Houston, failed to indicate how the alarm was given. Presumably however, the shots aroused other guards.

Election Boards To Be Published

Names of the members of the election boards to conduct the democratic primary on August 10 probably will be published Friday. The names have been selected and are being copied at the courthouse today. Six officials have been appointed for each of the voting places in the county.

School Census Soon Announced

School census for the city of Albany will soon be announced it was stated today by N. F. Greenhill, superintendent of public schools in Albany. Mr. Greenhill declared that the census will show a gain in whites and a loss in blacks. The census was taken by several young men of the city.

Rain In East Morgan County

Last nights rain was not general in Morgan County, it was stated today by J. C. Ford, county farm agent. Only a shower fell in Hartselle, while heavy showers visited Priceville and portions of east Morgan. The crops are in need of rain over the county, it was stated.

Patterson Given Ovation On His Madison Address

Closing his campaign in Madison county with a ringing appeal to be allowed as governor to remove the "school book trust", reorganize the present highway department and the building of good roads without the necessity for a bond issue, Andrew G. Patterson "Morgan's Own," Wednesday night spoke at the Elks Theater, Huntsville to an enthusiastic audience that burst into cheering at any mention of the educational or road program.

Morgan legions backed Patterson in his last official visit into Madison county, some fifty Morgan countians attending the speaking The address was preceded by a parade over the principal Huntsville streets, led by the Albany-Decatur Grotto band.

Introduced By Weakley

W. Harvey Weakley, prominent in North Alabama business and fraternal circles, introduced the distinguished speaker to his Madison audience reviewing the Patterson record in private, business and public life, in a fitting tribute to the worth of the Morgan man who now seeks to lead his state from a darkened era of educational facility and a road program guided by the 'Rogers political steam roller."

Expresses Gratitude

Mr. Patterson launched into his constructive talk of race issues by first thanking the Madison people for the support he has been given and will receive on election date. He then dove into the main issues of the campaign.

"The school book trust of this state is forcing the people of Alabama to pay from 25 to 40 per cent tax on school books, educational necessities and when I am elected governor I intend to furnish school books for the children directly to the people of this state," he declared with reference to the educational issue. The speaker was interrupted with a storm of applause. "My opponents say that they are going to improve educational conditions in this state, yet not one of them will tell you where the source will be . I am the only candidate in the race who can tell you where the money for increased educational facilities is coming from."

'Dope" Says Speaker

Mr. Patterson then drove his opening wedge into the road issues of the day, considered paramount in the state executive race.

He produced a folder which had been sent to the people of Alabama without signature to tell where it came from. The folder was labeled "Dope" on the $75,000,000 bond issue.

"What is dope?" he asked. "Dope is a drug given by doctors to their patients just before they are operated upon to deaden the pain."

"This is dope given the people of Alabama by Dr. John Rogers, Dr. Bill Brandon and Dr. Charlie Mcdowell to deaden the pain while they operate to extract the $75,000,000."

The speaker then told of his plan for raising $41,000,000 for roads within the next four years, without increasing the bonded debt of the

WORK ON SPAN BE STARTED SOON

Concrete Poured For Pier Number Five At New Bridge

The Koss Construction company soon will have the greater part of its work on the new highway bridge finished past the point where the bascule span will be placed, and will be ready for the Mt. Vernon Bridge company to begin work on the span.

Number four pier, on which rests one side of the span, virtually is finished, while concrete is being poured for number five pier at present.

Announcement was made today that the bridge company now is employing a force of 150 men, the largest crew which has been engaged at any time on the bridge.

Number one pier, on this side of the stream, is almost entirely finished, it was stated today.

GEORGIA BANKS REOPEN DOORS

Two Institutions Will Continue Business, They Announce

(Associated Press)
ATLANTA, a., July 2—The Farmers and Merchants bank of Gordon, Ga., members of the Bankers Trust company chain, which closed last week as a precautionary measure, has reopened for business the state banking department announced today.

The bank was one of more than 80 small Georgia institutions which closed after the bankruptcy proceedings against the Bankers Trust company. Investigation into the affairs of the Bankers Trust company now is being conducted by the Solicitor General's office and a Fulton grand jury.

The Lakewood bank, Atlanta suburban institution, not a member of the Bankers Trust chain, which also closed last week, re-opened yesterday.

BROOKHART and Nye, who beat administration senators in the primaries, attend a farmers' conference called by Governor Hammill of Iowa. One newspaper says this "may develop into an anti-Coolidge demonstration."

REMEMBER that farmers in Kansas will get about $150,000,000 for their wheat crop this year. A good deal will go to pay mortgages, but many farmers will remember that wheat now selling at $1.45 a bushel represents a considerable improvement on the price just before Coolidge was elected president.

Many things may happen before 1928, but the re-nomination of President Coolidge is one of the things that probably will happen in 1928.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has been asked to take the stump in political campaigns this fall. His friends hope he will say no. He owes it to his following not to tie his ship to anybody else's ship. A considerable number of republican ships are destined to be sunk, particularly

THOMAS E. KILBY VISITS IN CITIES

Senatorial Seeker On Way To Meet At Monrovia

Thomas E. Kilby, ex-governor of Alabama and competent business man of Anniston, today visited the Twin Cities, enroute to Madison county where he is scheduled for an address at Monrovia gathering, at which it is estimated that thousands of people representatives of three counties will be gathered.

Mr. Kilby while not absolutely confident of the outcome in the August primaries, expressed sincere gratitude for the support given him in the race in North Alabama and was of the opinion that the aid extended him in this section will warrant the opinion that he will lead the other candidates to the wire.

Mr. Kilby is placing his race upon his office record as one of Alabama's leading governors.

Merger Effected By Stock Exchange In Ohio

(Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Ohio., July 22—Merger of the Central Steel company of Massillon and United Alloy Steel Corporation of Canton, with assets exceeding $80,000, under name of the Central Alloy Steel Corporation, was announced through Otis and company today, shortly after directors of the two companies voted approval of the proposal.

The merger will be effected through an exchange of stock that will give Central Steel common holders two and one eighth shares of new stock and United Alloy common an even share for share exchange.

Stabbing Nearly Fatal To Negro

George Brown, negro, was severely stabbed this morning as a result of an alleged argument with an unidentified white man while working on the Moulton pike, wounds being inflicted just over the heart and in the back. The fight occurred about 8:30 a. m. The negro showed wonderful stamina by walking nearly a mile toward town before being picked up. Medical attention was rendered by Dr. F. L. Chenault. The negro, although weak from loss of blood, was able to walk and was carried to his home at Moulton Heights. No warrant has been issued for the white man.

Democrat Likes Memorial Plan

The Limestone Democrat at Athens likes the suggestion made by F. A. Bloodworth that the new highway bridge here become a memorial to the soldier dead of Morgan and Limestone counties.

The Democrat, in its current issue, after publishing the news story from The Daily concerning the suggestion, says: "The above from the Albany-Decatur Daily is considered a fine suggestion by many people in this section of the state and it is believed to be quite appropriate to have this bridge as a memorial to the brave soldiers of the World war from the counties of Limestone and Morgan who made the supreme sacrifice."

FOUR PROSTRATED BY SOUTHERN HEAT OVER WIDE AREAS

Newberry S. C. Leads Temperature Role At 108 Degrees

PROMISE MADE FOR A RELIEF

Fair And Cooler Is Prediction From Washington

(Associated Press)
The heat wave of the past week was climaxed yesterday by temperatures mounting generally throughout the South above the 100 mark. Four deaths and a number of prostrations followed in the wake of the sweltering heat.

Two persons died in Danville, Va. as a result of the excessive heat. Grover Thurman, father of five children and George Walker, a negro, were the victims. Five negroes were overcome while working on a cofferdam.

At Covington, Ky., one person died from causes attributed to the heat. Thomas B. Yates, 60 of Raleigh, N. C., also was a victim of the excessive heat.

Newbury, S. C., led the south with a maximum temperature yesterday of 108 degrees.

Greenwood, S. C., reported a reading of 106 degrees. Anderson and York, S. C., each had high temperatures of 105 and at Columbia and Spartanburg, S. C., the mercury climbed to 104.

At Charlotte, N. C., a local heat record of forty years standing was wrecked when the thermometer registered 107. Lynchburg, Va., broke an eight year record with 103, and Chattanooga touching 100 reached a high mark for a year.

A comparatively chilly temperature was reported at Miami of 84 and at New Orleans the temperature ranged from 86 downward to 76.

WASHINGTON, July 22—The governments weather experts sweltering over observations wired in from all parts of the country found sufficient hope today to promise a charitable relief from the sickening temperatures which have prevailed for several days.

Calculating that the heat waves would be broken late today or tonight or tomorrow in Tennessee, the middle and north Atlantic states and the Carolinas.

"The temperature," they set it down in black and white—"will be much lower tonight in the Ohio Valley and the lower lake region and in Friday and Friday night in the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic states. There will be thundershowers almost generally over the Washington forecast district within the next 36 hours; fair weather will prevail Friday, however, from northern New England and south westward to Kentucky and Tennessee.

All the relief easterners could get from the heat today was in reading about rain and increasing cool in the west. The weather bureau again predicted showers for tonight, but as the same prediction had been made yesterday and failed to materialize, small comfort was derived from it.

Through almost all eastern states the heat started on an upward rush this morning which bade fair to pass yesterday's records.

In New York city the mercury leaped up ten degrees between seven and eleven o'clock touching 91, Prostrations were reported with increasing frequency..

New York state was swept by the wave, lake breezes which had kept the western section comparatively cool, yesterday having died down.

New England showed no signs of faring better than it did for the past two days when new records were generally recorded.

This list of deaths attributed to the heat varied widely, due to the fact that scores were indirectly caused by the weather.

RECOUNT OF VOTE IN COOK COUNTY IS ORDERED BY COURT

Request Of Senator Reed Granted By Jurist

MORE WRITS ARE RETURNED

Indictments Brought Against Election Officials

(Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 22—A complete recount of the vote cast in Cook County (Chicago) for the United States senatorial nomination in both republican and democratic parties was ordered today by County Judge Jarecki, at the request of Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri chairman of the senate campaign expenditures committee.

The court acted as true bills reported to have been voted against 54 judges and clerks of elections in the April primaries, were awaited in the criminal court.

Senator Reed sought the aid of the county court in determining how the senatorial ballot was handled, as his committee prepared to assemble here Monday for an inquiry into the senatorial primaries

The indictments, the third group returned, brings to 109 the indictments returned against judges and clerks. Eleven were named in the first writs and 44 in the second group.

The writs have been returned as rapidly as a recount of the returns showed false tabulations.

The ballots cast for Senator William B. McKinley and Colonel Frank L. Smith, who defeated him for the republican nomination and for George E. Brennan, who won the democratic nomination without much of a contest, will be recounted only in those sections of the county where the election commission had control, under direction of the county courts. That territory includes, besides Chicago, the thickly populated suburban cities and villages of Chicago Heights, Cicero and Summitt.

The 54 indictments, making a total of 109 persons charged with fraud and other irregularities since the opening of the inquiry, into the April 13 primaries, were returned before Superior Judge Miller.

Five of the defendants were women and many of those indicated were precinct judges and clerks and precinct political workers.

ONE MAN DIES IN DAYLIGHT HOLDUP

Five Robbers Invade Broadway Store; Fail To Get Loot

(Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 22—One man was killed and another wounded when five robbers invaded a Broadway jewelry store in a daylight holdup today. The robbers escaped after fighting their way through a crowd that collected at the sound of the shots.

Although the robbers escaped, they did not obtain any loot. The man killed was Aaron Rodack, proprietor of a jewelry store at Broadway and 150th street. Sidney Freifeld, a clerk in the store, was wounded seriously. The shooting took place when Rodack and Freifeld attempted to protect the store's supply of jewelry.

Mercury Is Still On Rampage Here

The mercury still was on a rampage here today and a temperature reading of 95 was announced by Mrs. A. H. Irons, government observer at eleven o'clock. A minimum temperature of 73 was recorded last night.

UPWARDS OF 300 GATHER FOR SINGLE DAY SESSION HERE

Former Presidents Are Among Host Of Guests

MOSS MAKES SHORT TALK

Jones Presides Over Opening Meeting At Noon Hour

Two past presidents of Kiwanis International and upwards of 300 Kiwanians went into the initial session of the Inter-City meeting here at the noon hour today.

With John H. Moss, Milwaukee and Mercer Barnett, Birmingham, past presidents of Kiwanis International and Erskine Ramsay, Alabama district governor, among the hosts of guests, Albany-necatur, through its Kiwanis club, today opened its hospital portals to club members from every district of the northern and central sections of Alabama.

Coming in slowly, the initial session of the day, called to order at Masonic Temple was slightly delayed, most of the guests making the trip here by automobile from nearby towns. Cullman was perhaps leading in the list of visiting delegates registered as they arrived at the Hotel Lyons and at the Masonic Temple.

Initial Session

Arthur Jones, president of the local club, presided at the first session. The meeting was opened with the singing of America, Bob Daniel presiding at the piano. Bob Motley, Florence, gave the invocation. A delightful cold plate luncheon was served by the ladies of the Eastern Star.

M. R. Rankin conducted the regular song service at the conclusion of the luncheon. Kiwanians entering into the spirit of the gathering in singing a number of spirited familiar Kiwanis airs. Mr. Daugherty, a guest of J. R Daniels, pleased in two vocal numbers.

Moss Called Upon

John H. Moss responded to the call of President Jones for a few words giving in summarization the work accomplished by Kiwanis International and speaking of his pleasure at coming to the Albany-Decatur meeting. Mr. Moss explained that Mrs. Moss was unable to accept the inviation of the local club owing to illness within the home. His short talk was greatly appreciated by the assembled guests.

Bob Motley, Florence made the motion that the assemblage go on record as regretting the forced failure of Mrs. Moss to attend, the motion received a second and was passed, Mr. Moss responding graciously in a few words.

Afternoon Session

L. R. Nash, chairman of the Inter-City meeting called the attention of the guests to the meeting to open a 2:30 o'clock, at which time a number of interesting speakers will be heard.

The night session will follow at 7 o'clock, featured with the addresses of Mr. Moss and Erskine Ramsey.

Various clubs in this section entered the golf tourney at the Valley Country club beginning at nine o'clock today, the winners to be announced at the evening session.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE IN FIRST ANNUAL PICNIC HERE

Several hundred representatives of the Baptist Young Peoples Unions of Morgan county were gathered here today in the first annual picnic of the organization.

The day's program was ushered in with a parade through the business districts of Albany and Decatur just before noon. Each church had been asked to have a float in the line of march, and many responded with attractive ones.

A fishing contest, the B. Y. P. U. magazine counting as a "fish" was another feature of the day. At noon a basket lunch was served on the grounds. Several addresses were delivered by prominent workers in the organization and the day's program was scheduled to be brought to a close with a baseball game between Bethel B. Y. P. U. and the local business men's club.

Mrs. Patton's election places two women on the Athens board, Miss Bessie Sykes having served for sometime.

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population

By R. T. BULKELEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Where Harvard is reviving the architecture of early New England to set the motif for her new buildings, Yale is going frankly to Old England to get ideas. So Harkness tower soaring above the town like an English cathedral is glimpsed from every road into town while it yet is miles away, and then suddenly looms up above ancient buildings in town as a person winds through narrow congested streets "So like old Oxford" exclaimed Professor William Lyon Phelps when he first saw the completed building, and thousands of visitors since having repeated the saying—for Harkness still is now enough to attract visitors by droves whether Yale is in session or on vacation.

Yale Law School will work in the future on the old English Inns of Court system in a plant that will resemble a thing English quite as much as the Harkness plant now does. The Divinity school expects a similar Angelicized home some day in the future, and the fraternity houses of the 1926 crop look as English as if they had been moved bodily from across the Atlantic.

Dwight Hall, known to thousands of Yale men as the campus Christian Association building, is passing. Because Dwight Hall, like Osborn Hall, seemed to spoil the old college campus with its architecture of the Seventies, the Yale Committee on Architectural Plan ordered its removal and the first of July saw workmen ripping its walls apart. The Christian Association will find a home in Durfee Hall until the new library is finished two years hence, and then will be given permanent quarters in the old library that dates from 1847.

With the destruction of Dwight Hall was started also the razing of twenty-one buildings, lately occupied as temporary dormitories, that will form the site of the Sterling Library. "The library" says the latest official statement, "will be a Gothic building on the general lines of the Memorial Quadrangle in the next square which was designed by the same architect James Gumble Rogers, of New York. The University hopes to complete it in 1928. It will contain four million, and ultimately five million volumes.

The first of the month saw also the beginning of work on Yale's memorial to her 227 graduates who were killed in the World War. This will take the form of a colonnade with an altar of liberty in the center to be erected on the south facade of the dining hall. The design was made by Thomas Hastings of New York City.

A third large building operation starting July 1 is that of erecting a recitation building and lecture hall with many offices for members of the faculty at College and Wall streets to be named in honor of the late William L. Harkness, class of 1881. Mr. Harkness in 1918 gave $400,000 for such a building, and this year Mrs. Harkness and her children added $500,000. Previously this building was planned for Dwight Hall site but the additional funds created a building for which a larger site was needed. The new Harkness will be built around Sprague Music Hall and will replace several old dwellings used as temporary faculty offices.

Under construction now are the new Yale theater, a gift of Edward S. Harkness of New York, and the new Bingham Hall, gift of sons and daughter of Charles W. Bingham, of Cleveland, Ohio. Four large and expensive fraternity houses also are under way, having sites that flank the new theater.

Yale's new law school plant, recently announced will not be ready for a matter of about five years, it is believed unless something unforeseen happens.

Minister May Be Deprived of Pulpit

(Associated Press)

LAKE CHARLES, La., July 22.—Dr. George W. Clarke, who Saturday will answer a rule to show cause why he should not be enjoined from occupancy of the pulpit of the First Baptist church here, said in a statement today that opposition has arisen to his ministry because of his Pro-Americanism.

A court order was issued yesterday in response to a petition for an injunction sought by three members of the congregation who styled themselves in their petition the "Pulpit Committee" of the church.

"No charges whatever have been or will be made against me," said Dr. Clarke's statement. "The fact that I am an ardent pro-American has not pleased some folks, until recently my church was enjoying unprecedented success and when we have cleaned house we will move right on."

"After several weeks effort opponents mustered up 73 who voted against me, but this is not the intention of the congregation."

When Coolidge Made a "Wise Crack"

CAL'S GRIN
Yes, Coolidge Has a Sense of Humor—He Likes a Dry, Satiric Joke.

WASHINGTON has discovered that Calvin Coolidge has a sense of humor, dry, keen, subtle.

At a dinner party at the White House, the wife of a certain minor official spoke slightingly and at length on the subject of one of our ambassadors at a European court, a very democratic fellow who slapped the king on the back, addressed him as "Chief," and frequently called up His Majesty on the telephone. This sort of thing was unpardonable, the lady in question thought. After a time there came a lull in the conversation, and suddenly the President spoke up, indicating the White House cat, which was meandering around the dining room.

"Grace," he said to Mrs. Coolidge, "that's the third time that cat has stomped around this table."

Coolidge is not a raconteur, as were Harding and Taft. The latter, of a judicial turn of mind, liked the joke about the Bowery thug who was sentenced to hang. The judge asked the defendant if he had anything to say after sentence was pronounced, and the latter replied: "Judge, all I got to say is dis: I'm just DISGUSTED wit de whole proceedin's!"

WOODROW'S LAUGH
Wilson Laughed Readily at Vaudeville "Cracks," and Enjoyed Limericks.

JOLLY BILL
Taft Has Long Been Famous for His Jollity and His Infectious Humor.

Roosevelt often said the best joke he had heard in Washington was one told at the expense of Congressman William Sulzer, later Governor of New York, whom the newspapers often "kidded" about his resemblance to Henry Clay. Sulzer, according to the story, heard that an old colored man in the House barber shop had been there since Clay was a Senator, and had often shaved the great orator. "George," said Sulzer, so the story went, "do YOU think I look like Henry Clay?" "Well, suh," said the old darkey, scratching his head, "I can say dis: Yo' breff sho do smell like Mistah Clay's breff did, suh."

Farm Notes

(Associated Press)

AUBURN, Ala., July 22.—Alabama farmers are to gather here for the first six days of August to attend a short course at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute which is hoped will bring about better Alabama farms.

During the days associations and conventions that affect farmers will convene here thereby giving the farmers in attendance an opportunity to participate in the meetings as well as study the course.

The committee in charge of the course consist of Dr. Spright Dowell, president of the college, Prof. L. N. Duncan, Prof. M. J. Funchess and Dr. C. A. Cary.

For the farmers and their wives, it will be a four-ring affair; and, in addition, the county agents and the home demonstration agents will be in Auburn during the week. A special program is being arranged for farmers and another for farm women.

Along with these, the Alabama Farm bureau federation will hold its annual meeting Monday and Tuesday, August 2 and 3, in connection with the farmers' short course, according to Edward A. O'Neal, president. On Thursday, August 5, the Alabama Pecan Growers Association will hold its annual meeting in Auburn as announced by Clifton Kirkpatrick, president of the association.

The general schedule of exercises calls for lectures, addresses and conferences in the forenoon, demonstrations and practical work each afternoon and entertainment, plus general discussions each evening.

The short course will begin Sunday evening, August 1, with a religious program, including a vesper song service, and a religious talk by Dr. Spright Dowell. It will take place in Langdon Hall.

Monday morning at 9 o'clock, the Farm bureau convention will begin. The Farm bureau program for Monday afternoon and Tuesday forenoon will be of interest to those who are not members of the organization in that agricultural topics of general interest will be discussed. It will be the only program for the forenoons of these two days.

The afternoon program for Monday and Tuesday will be the same as for other afternoons except that the Farm bureau delegates will have a meeting each afternoon to discuss organization problems, and to adopt policies for the ensuing year.

Wednesday afternoon will be "Crops and Soils" day Thursday afternoon, "Livestock" day, and Friday, "Horticulture" day.

The plan is to divide the farmers into five groups for the afternoon work. While one group is studying one topic each of the other four groups will be studying one of four other topics; and by alternating, each group will get around to all these practical demonstrations during the five-day period.

Under the leadership of Miss Agnes Ellen Harris, dean of women and state home demonstration agent, the women are preparing their program so that it will dovetail with the others. The plan is for the women to take part in all the general programs of interest to them; and to have their departmental programs while the farmers are discussing strictly agricultural subjects.

Arrangements are being made to take care of our exceptionally large number of people. Although the college and the people of Auburn may be taxed to accommodate them, all those who attend will have comfortable quarters. A special survey with this in view will be made before August 1.

Patterson Given Ovation On His Madison Address

state and without forcing taxation upon the shoulders of the people who now bear the brunt of the tax burden.

Minor Issues

Concluding his talk with brief summarization of his position upon the convict lease system, wholesale pardoning power, fish and game laws and law enforcement, the response to these issues, which are recognized as paramount, but minor with regard to the educational and road issues, by the people of Madison county was more than gratifying to the Morgan County legions backing him.

Patterson declared he would remove the convicts from the mines as one of his official acts, "if there were any left or living when he took the Governor's seat."

He pleaded his cause in favor of law enforcement, saying that he would not appoint men who would not enforce the law, that his appointments would be without fear or favor and that while he felt kindly toward the unfortunates now in state prisons, that wholesale pardoning power should not be used indiscriminately.

A Booze Raid at Bunker Hill

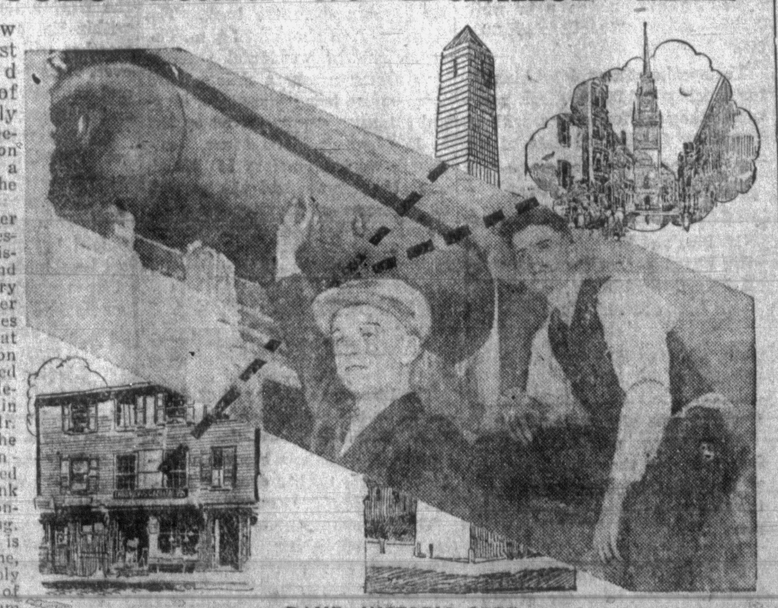

IN the shadow of our most cherished landmarks of liberty—literally in a hotbed of freedom — prohibition officers raided a bootlegging joint the other day.

No. 107 Bunker Hill Street, Charlestown, seems a distinguished and rather revolutionary address for a dealer in illicit beverages to sport, but that was the place on which an embattled squad of raiders descended, and, "in the name of Mr. Volstead and the Continental Congress," confiscated a refreshment tank not too adroitly concealed in the ceiling.

Not far away is Paul Revere's home, where Paul probably took a couple of hasty swigs of rum before he launched on his midnight ride. And the proprietor of the raided place might have discerned at a reasonable distance, the Old North Church, from whose steeple the patriots signalled Paul Revere—one light if the enemy moved by land, two if by sea—stop me if you've heard this. Perhaps, if the bootlegger had been enterprising he could have arranged a similar system.

And, almost close enough to see the whites of the enemy's eyes, stands the Bunker Hill Monument, marking the site where the colonists fought largely because they objected to English tea with a tax on it.

It is the beverage that cheers and inebriates as well that caused the most recent action in the Bunker Hill vicinity.

INDIANA "PROHI" FIGHT LOOMING

Bitten Campaign Seen On Dry Question Next January

By R. W. GINSBURG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS.—Indiana today faces the prospect of a bitter wet and dry fight both in the elections this fall and in the new legislature, scheduled to convene next January.

Although both parties sidestepped the issue in drawing up their platforms, the state, made famous last year through the passage of some of the strictest laws written into a legal code, faces a movement to rid that code of some of the teeth in the famous Wright "bone-dry" law.

It all came about through the formation of the Indiana Liberty League, a non-political organization incorporated for the sole purpose of deleting the statutes of "oppressive and un-American features."

Campaign For Members

A state-wide membership campaign is now being carried on, and according to the officials in charge they are securing a large number of prominent and wealthy citizens on their membership rolls in addition to many others who have joined the organization previously.

Harry E. Negley, attorney here, is the active head of the League. It is interesting to note that he was not only president pro tem of the state senate in 1919 when the Volstead act was approved, but also republican floor leader at the time.

He voted "dry" then.

But now:

"We voted out the saloon keeper," he says, "but seem to have voted in ten fold his number in the way of bootleggers and booze-runners to say nothing of private consumers who, in multitude, violate the law with good grace and utter complacency."

He claims that every sane thinking person is seriously alarmed at the results of the prohibition "experiment."

"We have tried it (prohibition) out, and the general result seems to be youthful banditry, juvenile debauchery, and a general breaking down of morals such as no one ever dreamed in the beginning," he says.

Harry M. Franklin, editor of the Columbian, monthly publication of the wealthy Columbia Club here, a former police captain, but now devoting the greater part of his time to securing new members for the League, says that the time has come for citizens to join in a movement "to correct some of these conditions."

Sees No Relief

"Relief from the oppressive and un-American features of the Wright law cannot be accomplished after the legislature is organized," he is warning his followers, admonishing them that only by "concerted efforts, begun early, and consistently carried on," can the proposed relief be secured.

The Indiana Anti-Saloon League, on the other hand, is pointing to increased bank balances and increased number of bank accounts. They claim that prohibition is no "experiment" but has proved successful throughout the state.

They have given warning that any effort, no matter how small, to change or modify any of the provisions of the Wright law will be fought bitterly both in the elections and in the new legislature.

If the sun is the great purifier—things certainly should be sanitary in North Alabama right now.

Life already is cheap in this country, and racing railroad trains to the crossing doesn't add anything to the general value.

You can't blame the supporters of Senator Pepper for kicking. They spent their money and got nothing for it.

Warm weather—wilted collars in town—growing cotton in the country—it's an ill wind that blows nobody good.

Just assessments for every person would solve the road building question, but a candidate who made that an issue probably wouldn't get enough votes to fill a hat.

Pennsylvania republicans had quite a row among themselves over the senatorial nomination, but now that the nominee is chosen, we'll bet dollars to doughnuts the republicans will stay behind him, scandal or no scandal.

Every time you scratch a mosquito bite, remember that there is a way to eliminate that pest, but the elimination costs a small amount of money. If you are willing to pay for comfort and protection, help now to organize an anti-malaria fight for next summer.

COLONEL HARRIS' GIFT TO LIBRARY DEEPLY APPRECIATED BY COMMUNITY

The generous gift by Colonel C. C. Harris of 500 volumes to the Decatur high school library is deeply appreciated by the entire community.

The private library of Colonel Harris, gathered during the years of his long and honorable public and business career, is probably one of the best in North Alabama. The gift of 500 volumes of notable works to the Decatur library immediately places the library of that institution on a par with any school in the section.

The gift of Colonel Harris will be remembered with gratitude, read and appreciated for uncounted years.

CROWDS FLOCK TO HEAR PASTOR WHO SHOT CRITIC TO DEATH IN FORT WORTH

Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church of Fort Worth, Texas, who shot to death a fellow-citizen Saturday evening in the pastor's study, preached to an overflow crowd Sunday. Rev. Norris claims that he shot in defense of himself and, apparently, his congregation believes that his claim is made in truth.

Many will wonder, however, how a pastor, or anyone else for that matter, can have sufficient poise to be able to stand before a multitude and deliver an address on the day after the speaker has taken human life. At least such poise does not influence his hearers to regard with proper prospective the sacredness of human life.

PATTERSON MAKES FAVORABLE IMPRESSION UPON THE PEOPLE OF MADISON COUNTY

Andrew G. Patterson, Morgan's candidate for governor, last night carried his campaign into Madison county with a vim.

His Huntsville address, many friends declared, was probably the most effective Mr. Patterson has yet delivered in the current campaign. It is a pity that every voter in Alabama could not have heard Mr. Patterson's clear, concise, comprehensive and lucid explanation of his platform for solution of the various perplexing problems of state today. Had this been possible, The Daily believes that tens of thousands of votes would have been added to the Patterson ranks.

Unusually encouraging reports continue to be received at Patterson headquarters here. One personal report, made by a political student who recently has been in central and south Alabama stated the people of North Alabama would be amazed if they but realized the popularity of the Morgan county candidate in those sections. During the past few weeks, the addresses Mr. Patterson has been making have won him thousands of votes.

Two visitors here from Marshall county yesterday told a local citizen: "Well, it just looks like everybody in our whole community has lined up for Patterson." There were no second, third and fourth places involved in their discussion. All they heard was Patterson.

Another report, received from Jefferson county, indicated that Patterson has made deep inroads into the voting strength of all of the other three candidates in that county. All over the state, the same story is heard. Patterson, the Progressive, is sweeping Alabama.

KIWANIANS OF NORTH ALABAMA ARE WELCOME TO ALBANY AND DECATUR

The Daily takes pleasure in welcoming, on behalf of this community, the Kiwanians of North Alabama today.

The Kiwanis clubs of the Tennessee Valley section have done much to aid in the growth and expansion of this great territory and because of their deeds, and because the personnel of the Kiwanis clubs is of such high standard, The Daily feels peculiar pride in saying to these Albany-Decatur visitors today: "Welcome to our community, may your stay be long enjoyable and profitable."

A review of the accomplishments of the Albany-Decatur club was published in Wednesday's edition of The Daily. While, naturally, the people of the Twin Cities feel that the local Kiwanis club may be just a mite better than the Kiwanis club of any other place in the world, yet we realize that the record of accomplishment of the local club is, in a sense, the record of accomplishment of Kiwanis clubs everywhere.

The motto of Kiwanis "We Build" is aptly chosen, for Kiwanians do build. Sometimes it is lending a helping hand in an industrial drive, at other times it is the bringing of a message of civic betterment, occasionally "We Build" means the building of bodies, as was exemplified here recently in the three-day clinic under the auspices of the Kiwanis club and with co-operation of the medical society. Sometimes "We build" means the cementing of civic ties, sometimes the widening of trade territory, but Kiwanians everywhere are emphasizing that the club really does build.

Kiwanians of North Alabama, you are welcome to Albany-Decatur, the "Gateway to Alabama."

EIGHTEEN YEARS AGO CARMICHAEL HAD AN OPPORTUNITY TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR

The Tri-Cities Daily, published at Sheffield, as the name indicates, for the three cities of Sheffield, Tuscumbia and Florence, lately declared its advocacy of the candidacy of A. H. Carmichael, of Tuscumbia, for governor. This step was quite to be expected and surprised no one.

The letter which the editorial endorsement called forth from M. S. Hansbrough, former publisher of the Tri-Cities Daily, however, may surprise some North Alabamians, who had not known that Mr. Carmichael had an opportunity to enter the gubernatorial race exactly 18 years ago and, apparently, did not make up his mind to run until this good year. Singularly enough, his decision is made in the same year that another distinguished North Alabamian already had declared his intention to enter the same race.

The illuminating letter from Mr. Hansbrough follows:

The Tri-Cities Daily Advocated Carmichael Eighteen Years Ago

Your splendid editorial endorsement of Hon. A. H. Carmichael, of Tuscumbia, printed in Saturday's paper, is very gratifying to the friends and supporters of Mr. Carmichael who are acquainted with his ability and with his qualifications for the high office to which he aspires.

Victory is already perching upon the banner of Mr. Carmichael. He has made tremendous gains all over the state the past month, taking strength from all three opponents. There is a reason. As the people at large become better acquainted with the man and with his platform they are convinced that he is the one candidate of the four who will make Alabama an outstanding governor, one free from political control of any nature. They know also that he has had the ripe legislative experience which qualifies him to discharge in an able manner the duties of a governor.

Colbert, the home county of Mr. Carmichael, should lead every county in the state giving Mr. Carmichael a solid vote. As governor he will reflect credit upon Alabama, and of whom his constituency will be proud.

It may be of interest to you to know that The Tri-Cities Daily was the first paper in the state to suggest Mr. Carmichael as a candidate for governor. It was back in 1908, after he made such a fine record in the 1907 legislature and fully demonstrated his ability as a legislator and a leader. It should be gratifying to you to know that the majority of the voters of the state are now of the same opinion that The Tri-Cities Daily was eighteen years ago when it advocated him for the governorship.

Very truly,
M. S. HANSBROUGH.

Sheffield, Ala., July 19, 1926.

The Daily hopes that every North Alabamian will read that letter. The Daily hopes that every resident of the Tennessee Valley who has a spark of sectional patriotism in his heart will read it and study it. You who have dreamed of a great section up state, pulling together and working together—read that letter! You who were proud when the Tennessee Valley did extraordinary things, you who were glad you lived in a section which realized that the good of one was the good of all and was striving to live up to that motto—you, too, read that letter and then decide for yourself what you think about it.

Eighteen years ago, Mr. Hansbrough says Archie Carmichael had his first chance to enter the race for one of the highest offices within the gift of the people of the state. Intermittently, no doubt, other opportunities have presented themselves to him. Why, may we ask, has Archie Carmichael waited to make the race until such time as his neighbor county offered for governor one of its distinguished sons? Do the Carmichael forces mean to insinuate that it has required EIGHTEEN SOLID YEARS FOR ARCHIE CARMICHAEL TO MAKE UP HIS MIND?

SCIENTISTS say large families indicate lack of culture, generally speaking, and that as culture increases families grow smaller, the number of births per mother diminishing.

That may be so, but you are glad that Caruso's mother kept on until she had No. 19. He was Caruso. The number of births per mother must gradually diminish, since otherwise the earth would be overcrowded and men compelled to eat each other. You may be sure that nature will attend to that, wisely as she keeps the trees from "growing into the heavens."

BUT the number of children need not necessarily diminish. In the mysterious future some women, like the queen bee may specialize in motherhood, having many children, other women preferring to have none.

You see signs of that, already.

THE Young Men's Christian Association starts 12,000 boys on a two years training period for a relay race against time between New York and Chicago, distance 1092 miles. The boys will run in relays, night and day swimming rivers when necessary, bearing a symbolic bronze torch from city hall to city hall.

THAT quite useless experiment undoubtedly will injure the health of some of the boys and will cost money. Y. M. C. A authorities might better buy half a dozen good flying machines from Fokker or Ford and each 500 youngsters the art of flying. That would be doing something worth while.

AN engineer plans an ocean highway for aviators. To be marked by bouys with floating landing places anchored 400 miles apart rising sufficiently high above the surface to let big waves roll under them.

THE idea, interesting now, will seem amusing to our descendants. A few years ago Northcliffe offered $50,000 to any man that would fly across the English channel. In a few years flying across the ocean will be as simple as flying across the channel or the North river. The ocean flight will be made comfortably between breakfast and dinner and millions that read this will live to see it.

TWO French airmen, Grier and Dordilly, have just flown from Paris to Omsk in Siberia, 2920 miles in 29 hours, without a stop. This flight that would have carried them across the Atlantic, sets a new record.

THE distinguished and Right Reverend Dr. Manning, Episcopal Bishop of New York, sailed last week for Europe, leaving this sensible message:

"No one that reads history can think that the world is growing worse."

He adds that the "jazz ... period," with it's smoking and drinking among women, is fading away.

BISHOP MANNING in France will study the great cathedrals, and see in one of them huge stones dragged along the ground, mile after mile, by crowds of men, women and children, working for the glory of God and no other reward in the middle ages.

HE will see real cathedrals, built with a Christian enthusiasm that never sent a collector into Wall street and never included a "Sports feature" among it's stained glass windows. And he will wish that his cathedral building activities had fallen in those ancient days of deeper faith.

THE 29 Mohammedan, seamen of the British ship, City of Newcastle, deserted at New York, camped on the dock and cooked their own food. They discovered that their cook was eat of his cooking because, as a Buddhist and they couldn't everybody should know, what a Buddhist touches is contaminated. They may take that less seriously when they reach England under a charge of mutiny. The belief of these ignorant seamen that the Lord of the universe is vitally interested in their food was common enough once.

SPEECH DEFECTS CAN BE ELIMINATED

But Those Who Stammer or Lisp Must Have the Patience and Tenacity to Develope Poise and Good Health.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

DR. COPELAND.

"CHILDREN who cannot talk, children and adults who stutter, lisp or whose speech has been affected by paralysis or other causes, will be given free treatment at the Georgetown University Speech Clinic."

This is what I saw in a Washington paper the other day. It will be welcome reading to many an afflicted mortal. It is an announcement which will lead to many cures, I trust.

Not to be able to speak distinctly, or to have a lisp impossible to cover up, is a real affliction. It is gratifying that intelligent and successful efforts to overcome these embarrassing defects are being made in every large city. Educational centres are not complete without provision for teaching of this sort.

It is wonderful what can be done for stammerers and others who have speech defects. It must not be taken for granted that no hope appears. No matter how bad the case, it is probable the trouble can be improved, if not entirely overcome.

Highly sensitive children who have slight defects may become worse and worse if permitted to do so. They grow embarrassed as they try to talk, and become less readily understood because the defect grows more pronounced every minute.

In a sense, blushing and stammering are similar. To overcome either, poise must be developed. But it is almost impossible to get into the right frame of mind and to acquire poise without special, individual instructon.

If an excited and irritable nervous system is founded on ill health, the first step towards recovery of the speech defect is to gain good health. With vigorous muscles and normal heart there will be clearness of thinking. With clear brain there can be the maximum of will power. With strength of mind and will comes the poise so essential to proper speech.

Stage fright is an exaggerated form of suddenly acquired speech defect. It takes training and practice to escape stage fright.

Training and practice under competent direction and instruction will do wonders for the stammerer. Don't give it up as hopeless. It isn't hopeless. By perseverance you can gain confidence and make your tongue do its duty.

If you are afflicted, talk with your doctor and the head of your school system. You will find a means of cure.

CROOKS ORGANIZE FOR AUTO THFETS

Business Conducted On Practical Basis

By International News Service

CHICAGO—Automobile thieving, perpetrated by a band of crooks organized on the scale of a large corporation and operating on a practical business basis, yielding its "chief executive" thousands of dollars yearly, has just been uncovered by Lieut. James Ford, of the Chicago detective bureau.

Operations of the 'corporation' were brought to light with the arrest of Steve O'Hagan, Arthur Bull, and Hilton Crouch, all alleged automobile thieves, who were apprehended by Lieut. Ford and a detail after a gun battle, and charged with a $1,650 payroll robbery.

In a garage adjoining the trio's haven, police found a stolen car, scores of license plates from nearby states and other equipment indicating the place was a rendezvous for automobile thieves.

The garage was described by Lieut. Ford as one of many way stations serving as receiving vaults for the gang's loot. It is believed to have been rented by the gang's leader, whose arrest Ford is trying to accomplish in his effort to clean out the 'corporation.'

Investigation has disclosed, Ford said, that the leader of the gang operates an automobile agency on the southside, specializing, ostensibly, in the sale of Ford and Chevrolet cars. Operatives of the gang make their steal and then notify their chief by telephone where the car can be picked up by another employe, whose part in the scheme is limited to driving the stolen car to the southside agency or one of the receiving stations.

Each operative receives $100 for each car he steals and a fixed amount is paid the "go-getters," who deliver the 'not-copy' to one of the "corporation's" many garages. In these garages, the machines serial number, the engine number and all other marks of registration are changed to correspond with those of a new car purchased for the south-side agency from the Ford and Chevrolet plants.

Then with the car properly overhauled and repaired, it is shipped to nearby Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, or Wisconsin points with a forged bill of sale duplicated from one obtained in Detroit. The gang, according to Lieut. Ford, has connections in all these states and there the cars are sold by an allied agency.

"We believe this fellow who dictates the movements of the gang, must have one hundred men working for him," Lieut. Ford said. "He was arrested about a year ago, but apparently has been immune from punishment. While his movements are not very well known to the police, we do know that he spends upwards to $50,000 annually for lawyers and for squaring accounts with people who have purchased stolen cars from him. He must clear more than $100,000 every year."

The three men arrested by Lieut. Ford are all known to have been under one mans' employ and are regarded as desperate criminals. O'Hagen, Ford said, had the payroll envelope on him when arrested and is on parole from New York. Crouch is wanted for murder and a $50,000 robbery in Indianapolis, and Bull has been known for years as a thief.

Attractive Summer Drapes

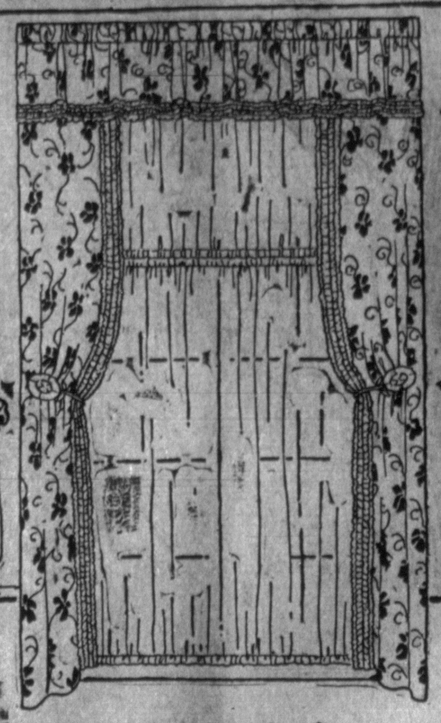

By Annette Bradshaw.

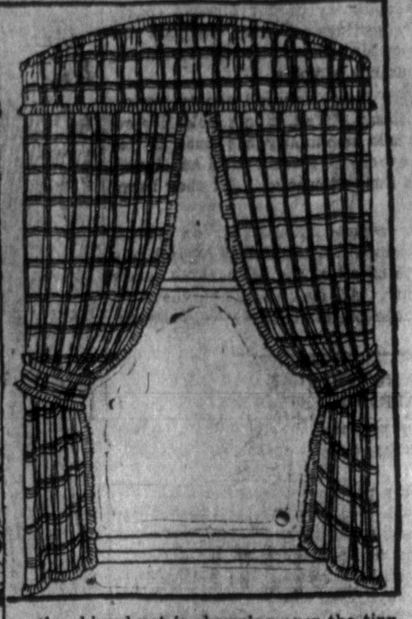

THE appearance of the windows in the home does much in contributing to the cool effect so desirable during the Summer days.

A few suggestions are given above which may help in planning the Summer drapes.

At the left is shown a charming arrangement of yellow dotted swiss with scalloped edges bound in cool green. These are adaptable to the bedroom or breakfast room.

In the center is a more formal arrangement suitable for the living room. The glass curtains are of shirred net, and the overdrapes are of glazed chintz in shades of tan and red, edged with pinked double ruffles. This arrangement is most effective when used in casement windows, as the shirred net is charming over the tiny panes.

At the left is a set of curtains that take us back to Grandmother's day. Made of gingham in red and blue check, or using the color most suitable to the room in which they are to be hung, they give a quaint air to the room which contains a set of the old-fashioned maple furniture. These are also much used in the breakfast room or nook, especially if it is built in a corner of the kitchen.

Helpful Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I had the pleasure of meeting a very nice young man and we went for a car ride. He said he'd see me again soon, but it has been several days now and I haven't seen him. He seemed very nice on our first acquaintance and I'd like to see more of him.

Would you advise me to call him? ANXICUS T.

ANXIOUS T.: I would not advise you to telephone this young man, my dear, in view of the fact that he said he would see you again. But if you intend to give a little party soon, you might write him a note asking him to come. Then your gesture of friendliness won't seem so obvious.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of seventeen and am deeply in love with a nice young man, who does not return my affections.

I have tried many times to forget, but that longing always comes back.

Can you suggest anything that I could do? HEARTBROKEN.

HEARTBROKEN: If you are certain that this young man is "immune" to your affection, then there isn't anything you can do, my dear. I know it is easy to say "forget" and difficult to do, but there is no other course you can take. Go about your other affairs, avoid meeting the young man, and you will just naturally lose interest in him.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and am in love with a young man about seventeen. He said that he loves me very much. I have been out with him several times, and now he is going with another girl, although he still calls upon me.

Should I call him?

BROKENHEARTED.

BROKENHEARTED: Since you are still friendly with the young man there is no reason why you should not invite him to call on you just as often as you please. The fact that he goes about with other friends does not mean that he is no longer interested in you.

COST OF MATRIMONY GIVEN BY A CALIFORNIA EXPERT

Age-Old Question, "Can Two Live As Cheap As One," Answered Through The Far West Investigation

By CLEM WHITAKER

International News Service Special Correspondent

SACRAMENTO—What price matrimony?

Can two live as cheaply as one?

How much will children increase the family budget?

State cost of living tables, made public by Mrs. Amy S. Braden, secretary of the state department of public welfare, shed new light on these and sundry related questions which trouble young Californians contemplating trips to the marriage altar.

If you chance to be a clerk, a wife probably would jump the annual demands on your purse $826.26, according to data furnished Mrs. Braden by the states civil service commission. But if your bride is a good manager the increase will be only $720.66.

BUDGETS GIVEN

Investigation indicated that the living expenses of a single clerk average $1285.70 yearly, while the cost for a man and wife in this station should not exceed $2,111.96 and might be cut down to $2,006.36.

"Comfort and health" living budgets, with 5 per cent deducted for careful management on the part of friend wife, were announced as follows:

Clerk
Man and wife	$2,006.36
Man, wife, 1 child	2,287.80
Man, wife, 2 children	2,584.15
Man, wife, 3 children	2,991.56
Laborer
Man and wife	$1,449.43
Man, wife, 1 child	1,663.34
Man, wife, 2 children	1,859.14
Man, wife, 3 children	2,049.57
Executive
Man, wife, 3 children	$6,683.36

While these budgets represent normal living cost for people in average circumstances, said Mrs. Braden, "minimum subsistence" tables also have been prepared to govern cases where persons are left dependent on the state or county.

Men Eat More

Minimum rental charges in cities vary from $25 to $35 per month, according to the size of the family, the state survey disclosed. The customary clothing allowance made by the state is $5 per month for each child and $7.50 for the mother. Monthly food budgets of the state range in the amounts allowed from $5 for infants to $11.79 for children between 12 and 15 years.

Men eat more than women, which jumps the food bill, according to the state data, but women usually offset this by their expenditures for clothes.

Many Candidates Visitors In City

Enroute in most instances to Monrovia, where the big political rally is to be held today, many candidate for state offices were visitors here last night. Among those in the Twin Cities were: Thomas E. Kilky, candidate for the United States senate; Hugo Black, candidate for the United States senate; Fitzhugh Lee, candidate for re-election as a member of the Alabama public service commission; Charles McCall, candidate for attorney general.

MOTOR TO CAMP

Dr. A. J. Perolio, director of the Tennessee Valley laboratory, has gone by motor to his camp on the Warrior river for a short rest. He will visit in Birmingham and Montgomery while away. He is accompanied by Mrs. Perolio.

Dr. Russell Now In Birmingam

Dr. Richard Olney Russell, son of Dr. T. J. Russell, Woodland Mills physician, is now located in Birmingham. Dr. Russell has completed eight years of service, as medical student and as hospital interne. Friends who remember him here hope that he will enjoy success.

BALLOTS CAST

Some absentee ballots already have been cast in Morgan county. The ballots arrived here this week from the printer in Birmingham and applications are being filled in the order of their receipt. The votes will be cared for by the court until counted by the election officials.

PARIS—A good vegetable dish for this season of the year is "Peas a la Portugainse."

Brown in butter one or two onions and as much chopped parsley. When all is a nice color season with salt and pepper and add fresh peas. Let cook over a slow fire. Moisten from time to time with a little bouillon so that the peas will not be dry.

Serve with freshly-fried croutons.

Paris Style Hints

By ALICE LANGELIER

International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS—It's a long lane that has no turning and masculine fashions were bound to give way sooner or later before feminine frills and furbelows. Recent observations at smart gatherings and on the Grands Boulevards show that Dame Fashion is slowly leading lovely woman with the lightest hand imaginable to a more feminine conception of her sartorial charms and graces.

Gowns for both day and evening are more elaborate and feminine. Laces are being used again on the necks of afternoon frocks and dainty little collars and cuffs of flesh and banana georgette soften the lines of the strictest tailored gown. The silhouette is still declared to be straight and yet there are frills and forbelows everywhere and one thought they were banished forever.

In place of the straight mannish coats that have been worn for the past few seasons are wraps with delightful little flares and trimmings and a bloused back held in place by a narrow belt of bright leather. Even the raincoats show a tendency toward more feminine lines. One in pale pink rubberized crepe de chine has a full-bloused back and deep revers.

The plain evening-gown of georgette, chiffon or satin has taken on flouncings, frillings and laces in profusion and there is a predominance of gowns beaded with pearl and silver paillettes. Gold and silver lace is also used a great deal for evening frocks, either alone or in combination with chiffon and there are attractive laces of gold or silver with designs in colored flowers.

The loose back is still very popular for evening models. It sometimes takes the form of a straight cape reaching just below the normal waistline or it may be a deep pleated frill, two pieces of the material falling from the shoulders at the back.

Pebble Infielder Held For Theft

(Associated Press)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 22.—W. P. Haile, third baseman of the Little Rock baseball club, was held under a bond of $1,000 when brought to police court today charged with the theft of an automobile. The accused said that he was intoxicated to the extent that he remembered nothing of the affair.

Haile was taken in custody in one of the best residential sections of the city driving a car which he was later accused of taking. He said that he and certain members of the Chattanooga, Memphis and Little Rock clubs were enjoying an "evening out," when his friends abandoned him amidst strange surroundings.

Boy Scouts Will Aid In Fire Fights

Boy Scouts of these cities will be called upon in the future to aid the local departments in the handling of fire lines, traffic and in the removal of household goods from nearby homes, during a fire, it was stated today in connection with the fire prevention campaign in these cities.

Scouts have been given fire instruction in the past and their work has received high recommendation from fire heads. It is believed that they will be of untold value in the future, being of use at all fires. Scouts are asked to report at the point of the fire, unless they are otherwise engaged in meritorious work.

Dempsey and Tunney To Meet In Chi. On September 11 For The Heavy Title

Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney are going to meet in Chicago in September, says Rickard. He said that before. Dempsey said he was going to fight before—Dempsey said. He hasn't fought.

At least Gene Tunney is taking him seriously for the Leather-neck is hieing himself to the Wisconsin woods, six hours out of Chicago to begin training for the fight. Gene says he doesn't care for the 25 and 50 cent gate, what he is after is the title. He won't get the title whether he lives to fight Dempsey or not. Jask may outlast him in the old age classic.

Tunney says he is glad and sad that the title bout of the century is at last scheduled. Gene says he had hoped that he might fight in his home town, and then he is glad he's going to Chicago where there will be no "ring" politics to interfere, but Gene hasn't fought yet.

It's the same old gag, a man by the name of B. F. Clement announces that he has a contract on Dempsey's services and that the latter must fight Harry Wills before the scheuduled Tunney bout, so that gives Jack another chance to cavort over the country with his trick nose still intact.

However, they may fight this time, you never can tell about this boxing game. Tex Rickard usually gets his way with things puglistic and it seems that he is scheuduled to show his speed this time.

Oh yes, baseball, the Barons lost again. A mighty bad habit for the Dobblings to pick, nevertheless they have the malady and unless they take advantage of a tonic pretty soon why there's going to be more slipping down the ladder than was ever recorded by the fat old man on an icy pavement. The Barons are not playing any baseball to speak of, the Chicks and Pels are playing baseball and unless the Vols strike a streak of bad luck and cash in their chips there's going to be a Tennessee team occupying third place. The Barons Bowed to the Bears again yesterday 4-2, down at Mobile. Memphis won the other Southern league game from the Lookouts, though Eddie Lewis garnered three out of four. Memphis made all her five runs in the big fourth, winning the final game of the series, 5-3.

Jess Petty was reinstated by the Dodgers and then unseated by the Pirates yesterday 1-0. The Dodger ace didn't do any bad hurling, he was just up against a tough proposition in Songer who was likewise showing the Dodger how well he could breeze 'em past the hitting corps. The Pirates gathered four hits ,the Dodgers five. In the second game the Bucs were halted by antics of the famed Dazzy Vance. Vance allowed six hits, while Aldridge was knocked from the rubber.

Cincinnati was winning from the Braves 6-4, allowing the Redlegs to creep another half game ahead of the Pirate crew. And that's all that was doing in the National.

In the American league there was another thought coming, Walter Johnson managed to speed across ahead of the Tygers in the second of the afternoon duo. Walter was touched for 10 hits and seven runs, six of them in the fourth. He settled down after that inning and breezed himself into his tenth win of the year. The old master has a long way to go to reach his mark of 20 games this year. He has now won 10 and lost 9, not a very healthy record for the finest hurler who ever donned a cleat. Detroit took the first contest 7-6, when Tygers rained hits at Curley Ogden, causing dire disaster to the checkered record of that hurling gent.

The Indians continued to thunder along with their mighty warhoop yesterday and set the Athletics into the depths of despondency with the fifth straight defeat. The thing went 0-0 for eight full innings, the Indians put on their war paint and strutted their stuff in the ninth for six tallies.

St. Louis defeated Boston twice 11-1 and 7-4, though all Boston hurling talent was busy.

Babe Ruth hit his 29th homer yesterday in the first inning of the Yank-Sox tilt, but the Sox won. Babe brought two around in front of him to account for all Yank runs. The Yanks took the last verdict when relief hurler Lyons chose to pass two men to force in the winning run, the Yanks copped 5-4. Both teams scored four runs in the eighth.

To Wed Tex

Tex Rickard, sports promoter, said he was engaged to Maxine Hodges, an actress. He is fifty-six. He said she was twenty-four.

Scout Aid Is Offered Daily

Boy Scout troops of Albany-Decatur will serve the Daily in any way possible on election night August 10. This valuable aid was offered today by Burl Quinn, scout executive of the local council. It is probable that the boys will be used as messengers to the various city boxes and patrol the traffic lines from Moulton to Holly street, that area having been granted the Daily for the night. No automobiles or vehicles will be allowed within the area on that evening.

Stellar Match

Bebe Daniels, film star, announced her engagement in Los Angeles to Charles Paddock, running star.

Fish Decline To Bite, Say Anglers

Local anglers who have been paying regular visits to Shoal creek and Wilson Lake, bring disappointing reports regarding the credence of the present finny inhabitants of those streams. Fish are not biting at Shoal Creek and Wilson Lake just now, they declared.

SHE DOESN'T KNOW HOW YOU DO IT!

YOU feel a little embarrassed and sorry for her. She looks so admiring and helpless, so envious, and so—so—ineffective!

Her clothes are always so bad, poor little thing. And she pays too much for them. Her home is furnished with all the wrong things. She seems to have a genius for wasting money. When she goes out to buy anything, soap or silverware, or lingerie or lamps, she's sure to turn up with something nobody ever heard of before and doesn't want to hear of again.

She is that eager, but not very bright, little woman who, "my dear, doesn't ever read advertisements. Who doesn't know what to buy, or where to find it, or what to pay for it. Who doesn't know values and can't compare them. Who doesn't know that when a new style, or a new convenience, or a new anything arrives, one sees it first in the advertisemnets.

One really gets a little vexed with her—

But let's not waste too much time on her. It's about time for you, dear lady, to have your daily look through the advertisements.
